

DON'T BE PREGNANT WITH FOREIGN CLIENTS!

When your business involves foreign languages there are many ways to get into trouble. For example, embarazada sounds like a synonym for “red-faced”. But in Spanish, it means “pregnant”.

International Contact, Inc. can help you avoid this, and more subtle faux pas. For more than 17 years, we’ve helped clients create business messages for foreign language markets in the US and overseas.

We work in most languages, in all media, from print to sound to video. And give you not merely a translation, but an adaptation that matches the culture and character of the market you address.

So, to avoid embarrassment in your foreign communications, call International Contact. We speak your – and your clients’ – language.
